NEW BAY SPAN WILL DIVERT MUCH TRAFFIC TO THIS CITY

Proposed Structure Will Be Largest of Kind
In The World

With the Ford factory locating here, which will bring thousands to Richmond, with the opening of the Carquinez bridge in May, which will pour the population of the Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys
through this city, and added to these things, a second bridge from the Marin shore to Richmond, which will make this city the gateway of the entire northern part of the state, it can readily be seen
what the future holds forth for Richmond in the way of growth.

Hearing In April

The proposed bridge has been financed, and an application for a franchise will come up for public hearing before the supervisors on Monday, April 4th.

The application is being made to the Contra Costa board of supervisors, by reason of the fact that the law provides that the franchise must be granted by the supervisors on the left side of the stream, which is the Contra Costa side.

Large Delegation Expected

As the proposed bridge is of vital importance not only to Richmond and the entire western end of the county as well as to Marin county, it is expected that a large delegation from the two counties will appear before the supervisors in April and urge the granting of the franchise.

Japanese Kills Self With Unique Suicide Device

(By Universal Service)
SACRAMENTO, Feb. 19.—S.
Saiki, 48, a Japanese rancher of Courtland, took his life today
in one of the most unusual suicides
on record in Sacramento county. Selecting a cherry tree symbolic of his native land, Saiki seated himself beneath it, knotted
a large handkerchief to his neck, tied the other end of the handkerchief to a branch two feet from the ground, and then leaned back, strangling himself to death.

All stores will be closed
in this city on Tuesday,

the birthday of the Father

POLICE DAY IS CELEBRATED BY 14TH. ST. MEN

In at least one spot in this broad and populous land, yesterday signified more than merely Saturday, February 19 in Richmond, it was Police Day.

In the business section, particularly in the vicinity of Fourteenth and Macdonald, they said it with flowers. And, realizing that flowers are less acceptable to cops than cigars, a thoughtful coterie of business men from "Fourteenth Street Square" included that item in the felicitation they tendered
the Richmond police department
on its official day.

Throughout the day, the police phones were kept busy carrying messages of congratulation from Richmond residents.
Following is a transcript of the letter which accompanied several baskets of flowers and several boxes of cigars, carrying the good wishes of Richmond merchants to the guardians of the law yesterday afternoon.

Richmond, California,
February 19, 1927.
To the officers and members of
the Richmond Police Department,

greetings and wish you continued success, and in appreciation, we

the continuance of your success
and Richmond's Annual "Police

WOODLAND DANGEROUS BY SACRAMENTO RIVER

(By Universal Service)
WOODLAND, Cal., Feb. 19.—
Many acres of land in Yolo county are inundated by the overflow
of Cash creek and the Sacramento

Volunteers worked throughout last night and today in an effort to stem the overflow.

CANTON FORCE SWEEPS ON TO SHANGHAI GATE; CRISIS NEARS

American Officer Beaten
By Irate Mob, Mistaken
For British Seaman

(By Universal Service)
PEKIN, Feb. 19.—Lieut. J. F.
Luten, medical officer of the United states river gunboat El Cano stationed at Ichang, was attacked and beaten by a mob today while proceeding from the boat to the hospital. The lieutenant, in American uniform, was mistaken for a British officer. He was knocked down, beaten and his uniform was torn, but he was not seriously hurt.

Marines "On Deck"
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—American marines and bluejackets were ready to occupy Shanghai at an instant's notice today, to protect lives and property as the Cantinese armies, flushed with victory swept toward the city.

The crisis was at hand. Shanghai is already in the throes of a general strike, despatches to the state department announced. Within the international settlement thousands of Americans and other foreigners await the next development. Upwards of 10,000 British and American troops are available to stem the possible tide of looting and rioting which may follow the fall of the city to the Cantinese.
The strike now includes the postal employees, cotton mill workers, tramway and bus employees and workers at the power station in the French concession and at the Chinese power plant, the state department announced.

SAN PABLOAN HURT IN CRASH

Hang Lee, 73, for many years
a resident of San Pablo, is in the Cottage hospital suffering from a fractured skull and possible internal injuries received last night
when he was struck by a car driven by M. E. Sansbury of Selby.
According to Constable M. Moltoza of San Pablo, Lee was walking west on Alvarado street and Sansbury was driving in the same direction. He stated that he did not see the aged Chinaman until it was too late to stop.
Lee was taken to the Cottage hospital where he was treated by Dr. W. S. Lucas.

ACCEPTANCE OF FRENCH PAYMENTS IS EXPECTED

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—
France's unexpected offer to pay $30,000,000 this year on her fourbillion dollar war debt to the United States is likely to be accepted, it was understood in well informed quarters today.
France agreed to pay under the unratified agreement, only $30,000-000 annually for the first two years, $32,500,000 the next two,
and $35,000,000 the fifth year.

Slide Endangers Movement Toward Auto Traffic In Reapportionment Franklin Canyon Balked In House

A great mass of earth and clay carrying boulders and small trees that slid across the pavement on the Franklin Canyon highway between Glen Frazer and Barry Hill
during the storm has menaced traffic to such an extent that a warning has been issued to automobile drivers.
A maintenance crew has been working on the slide for two days shoveling the soaked clay into trucks to be hauled away but the highway is still dangerous at that point for other than the most careful driving.

Several cars and trucks have skidded and slid into the guard railing to hang precariously over the creek embankment.
The widening and straightening
of the approaches to the Carquinez bridge are rapidly being rushed to completion with steam shovels and road gangs busily engaged at both terminals of the world's largest highway span across the northern arm of San Francisco bay.

Approaches To Carquinez Span Near Completion

Workmen have already started pouring concrete for the road from Moon's Cove to the bridge approach on the Vallejo side. On the Crockett side the entire hill which has been the locus of numerous slides will be leveled within the week. Over it will be built a 30-foot concrete highway leading to a road of similar width laid across the entire stretch of the mile long span.
Both roadways provide the final link in the Pacific highway. They will be completed in ample time
for the official opening of Car-quinez bridge, May 21.

Six Seriously Injured In Early Morning Crash Near El Cerrito; One Near Death

Hill, Mrs. Randall And Hofsas Reported to be Improving

Severely injured in a triple automobile accident in which three other Richmond residents suffered bruises and lacerations, early yesterday morning at the intersection of Lincoln and San Pablo avenues, El Cerrito, J. E. Hill, 3715 View avenue, Mrs. Dora Randall, 336 Thirty-fifth street and Frank Hofsas, 339 Richmond street,
El Cerrito, are making courageous flights against death.

According to reports from the Berkeley General hospital late last night, both Hill and Mrs. Randall are "doing nicely," although the danger period has not been passed.
It was reported at the Cottage hospital here that Hofsas is "doing as well as can be expected."

Hofsas, Hill, Mrs. Randall and Mrs. Gillard were riding in a sedan given by Gillard. Hofsas was sitting beside Gillard in the front seat. The party was carrying the former home after a lodge meeting here.
Traveling south on San Pablo avenue they started to make a left turn into Lincoln avenue when a car driven by Winebrenner going north on San Pablo avenue crashed broadside into the Gillard automobile.

W. H. Klein, 812 Nevins avenue,

JAPAN FIRST NATION TO GIVE REPLY TO PRES. ON LIMITATION

Refusal of Nipponese to 5-5-3 Ratio Expected;
Delay is Asked

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Japan
today accepted President Coolidge's invitation to attend a five power conference on naval disarmament
at Geneva.

The reply to the President's proposal was formally presented to Secretary of State Kellogg by Ambassador Matsudaira of Japan.

The note, however, indicated that Japan will decline to approve the extension of the 5-5-3 ratio to naval armament not included under the Washington treaty. In his bid to the conference President Coolidge made it plain that this government favors the application of the established ratio by Great Britain, the United States
and Japan to all classes of naval armament.

Japan in accepting the Coolidge proposal asked the postponement of the proposed conference until June 1 or after, instead of holding it simultaneously with or immediately following the League of Nations preparatory disarmament
at Geneva which reconvenes March 31.

This provision was inserted because the Tokyo government is desirous that "at least a part" of its delegation to the five power conference shall be specially sent for that purpose.

Japan's reply was the first favorable answer to the President's plan. France has declined to attend and Italy is expected to do likewise. Great Britain will probably accept conditionally, as did Japan.

With that prospect in view the possibility and advisability of a three power conference between Great Britain, the United States
and Japan as the participants is being discussed here. President Coolidge, however, will not make known his attitude until replies
from all four nations are at hand.

ROME, Feb. 19.—Mussolini is still considering his reply to President Coolidge's disarmament proposal, said the Popolo d'Italia today.

This indicates that Italy will not be influenced by France's stand and it is generally believed that the reply of Italy, while finally insisting on her rights to maintain a military establishment strong enough to protect her nationals throughout the world, will courteously leave the way open for a new proposal from Washington.

C. M. Cook reported himself much improved upon his return to Richmond yesterday after a two months sojourn in Mariposa on account of ill health.

CHERRY TREE STORY IS NOT A MYTH

The story of George Washington and the cherry tree, which some of our educators now declare to be merely tradition, is not a myth, but an actual happening, according to H. O. Bishop, who writes about this incident of Washington's boyhood in the current issue of the National Republic. The man who put the cherry story into print was "Parson" Weems, a distinguished Episcopal clergyman of Revolutionary days, who spent much time in the neighborhood in which Washington lived as a boy. Mr. Bishop continues:

"Parson" Weems' book has been ridiculed because the author was not a professional historian and his work written more than a century and a quarter ago, is in the somewhat stilted style of that period. He was a minister of the gospel whose book appeared while hundreds of intimates of Washington and even boyhood neighbors, were still living, and it was more dangerous than it is today to tell a lie about Washington. He was also guilty of selling his own and other books throughout the country-side of Virginia and other states, but in so doing he was performing a real service in a day when books were scarce. If anyone doubts his ability, let him read what "Parson" Weems has to say about the American form of government with a force and eloquence not often surpassed as printed in this issue of the National Republic.

"I have made some research on the subject of 'Parson' Weems, his biography of Washington and the cherry tree story and as a result declare the belief that what is declared a 'myth' by those who make a business of trying to root up patriotic traditions, is no myth at all, but a true story—true in itself and true in the impression it gives as to the devotion of George Washington to the high virtue of truth-telling, especially when his honor was involved. If the attackers of this story have any proof of their assertions, let them come forward with them—but I venture the assertion that they have none. Here is the result of an investigation which I have recently made in the Library of Congress and various other sources."

The French government has just perfected plans for mobilizing the entire nation in case of war. Evidently the French, even though they claim to have their faith in the League of Nations, intend to keep their powder dry.

An excited tug boat captain reports seeing a lot of seals gambling around in Long Island Sound. But perhaps it was only a bunch of New York athletes all greased up to swim the channel.

Men Who Made the World

THE DEATH OF HENRY'S ELDEST SON, PRINCE HENRY, EFFECTED A RECONCILIATION BETWEEN THE KING AND ELEONORA AND PEACED REIGNED FOR A TIME. THEN A NEW QUARREL BROKE OUT BETWEEN RICHARD AND HIS FATHER, RICHARD, BEING NOW OF AGE, DEMANDED THAT HIS WIFE ALICE BE GIVEN TO HIM. HIS FATHER, PROBABLY DESIRING TO RETAIN POSSESSION OF THE DOWER LANDS, REFUSED. BEING BOUND TO ALICE, RICHARD COULD NOT MARRY ANY OTHER WOMAN, SO THE QUARREL BETWEEN FATHER AND SON WAXED WARM.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper. Name your city on your return envelope. Don't say "city."

I BELIEVE IN MEDICINE AND SURGERY

Nearly every day a few of the letters which come to me from our own and far countries are written in Sanskrit, I fancy, but research usually shows that it is really Spanish, French, German or almost anything but good plain English-American. At first I assume I assume I can't serve these letters, but the air of mystery about them seems to suffice to automatically inhibit my wistful so that I withhold the answers from the chucker, leaving them able for subsequent belatedly research.

Then there are not a few letters every day which are in the purest English, letters from folk apparently well educated, as education goes, but nevertheless letters which I can't save. These letters run more or less in this fashion:

"Ordinary doctors invariably hand out a prescription and advise me to report again at such and such a time. But I do not believe in pills and poisons. I know the majority of ills are caused by incorrect diet or wrong combinations, and so I thought perhaps you could give me a good diet."

Today a patient little wife—and God bless our patient little wives, yes, and our loving big ones, for what would become of most of us headless men without the good guidance, sympathy and affection they lavish on us?—writes: "My husband suffers terribly at times with gallstone colic. He has had four attacks now, and each attack seems worse than the one before. He will not listen to any talk about an operation. He has always believed that operations are unnecessary and he is sure something can be done to dissolve the gallstones without an operation. He has tried . . . to take gallstone remedy which reports to 'dissolve' the concretions (and . . . ) another nostrum of practically the same character by an alkali, which produces some rosy lumps in the intestine, and the sucker imagines these lumps are the gallstones! He has faith in you because he thinks you don't believe in all this cutting and slashing either. Please, please, Dr. Brady, tell us if anything can be done for my husband besides an operation."

Such queries remind me of the earnest old customer who, having tried all the folk cures of healing without success, finally summoned a physician. "Doctor, I tell you candidly I have consented to have you in only at the earnest solicitation of my friends. I have no faith whatever in your medicine." The doctor patted the old cynic on the back and laughed. "That's all right, just swallow this powder," he said. "The mule has no faith in the veterinarian, yet the veterinarian cures him just the same."

Well, it may seem a harsh thing to say, but this husband is evidently an obstinate mule, and I may what I think for his benefit. I feel sorry for his wife. Yes, certainly something can be done for the man besides an operation. If he absolutely refuses to have an operation we can provide a new nostrum for him before long, no doubt.

Personally I am not crazy about taking medicine, but I took my doctor's castor oil like a little man when my doctor prescribed it for me. Neither am I stuck on the division of being operated upon, but to my way of thinking it is much more fun paying for one's operation than it is paying for one's funeral. Somewhere, whether it be in the world or whether it be in the world, we had a few less operations and a few more funerals.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Good Deodorant

Kindly advise some good solution or mixture to counteract various body odors such as sweat, etc. (Mrs. S. M.)

Answer—An occasional application of a solution of soap in water is very effective in most cases. Liberal applications of a mixture of about one part of oxycarbonyl, four parts of citric acid, and a dash of carbon dioxide will prevent such odors—but most people are afraid they'll take cold during the remedy.

Old Doctor Pulls a Bone

If you will consult Webster you will find the pronunciation of vitamin given vitamin, first I long, a short, accent on the second syllable. I am aware that the word is usually pronounced as you pronounce it, with the accent on the first syllable, but this is a new word, and the authorities who compile such works as Webster's unabridged dictionary, Nelson's loose leaf cyclopedia should be accepted in preference to the rank and file who, in many cases, do not know what etymology means. Please state in your column your authority for the pronunciation you use. (E. E. L., M. D.)

Answer—Your round, brother, I am deeply pained and chagrined to find that old Doctor Webster does advise the queer pronunciation you give. But just between ourselves I fear the doughty lexicographer is getting somewhat rusty. In Canada we commonly call it vit-a-mins, the I short as in hit, and in England no doubt we put still another twist on it. But vitamin with the first I long and the accent on the first syllable seems to me to have the preference which good usage gives. You will notice that old Doctor Webster has rather vague notions of the meaning of the word. So with all due respect and admiration for our faithful guide and counselor, I think he has pulled a bone or two. We had been juggling with vitamins with the I long and the accent on it for several years before Doctor Webster took the word in hand. It would be as hard to reform now as it was for a of us to cease serving genu wine when the country went dry. Some people still serve it liberally, probably because it has a kick which one doesn't get from jenuin.

They Should Dry Up. Certain persons believe it is a terrible mistake to heal or "dry up" a running ear or a discharging sore or a breaking out or rash, as they maintain nature is purging the body of impurities transmitted to it from the parents (Mrs. W. J. H.)

Answer—It may be unwise to obstruct drainage or discharge from an infected ear or an infected wound. But as a general rule this superstition is propagated by ignorant folk or persons who have some freak healing cult or system to exploit. Proper medical or surgical treatment should be given in every case of running ear.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

"Oh for the little Red School House. Those good old days in the open country where we eat our youngsters at the feet of our beloved teacher listening to the words of wisdom that poured from her sweet lips; where we breathed the clear country air and listened to the song birds and the chirping of the crickets; where Man in his native element conquered the forces of nature and where Men were Men!"

Yes, customers, I actually heard such a speech at a reunion of the graduates of District Number Three, School of Township of . . . But let's be charitable. Venerable men get childish and forgetful. This particular old gentleman forgot how earnest youngsters of the good old days stuffed rags in the stove-pipe and gave the scholars an enforced recess. He didn't remember the time Bill Way balanced a pail of water that when the door was opened the teacher thought a cloud burst had engulfed her. If the picture of how a nice night-walking little black and white creature was thrown into the wood shed still hung on Memories Wall the Orator chose not to see it. . . . But why remind him? The sands are flowing swiftly now from the hour glass of his life so let him enjoy his indoor sport of talking about the "Good Old Days."

In a wholly detached and abstract way I love the small country school. And God must love them as He has so many of them. Theoretically they are wonderful. They offer a chance to study nature at first hand; plenty of open play space; fresh air and sunshine; an opportunity for the teacher to come close to the life of the community with the intimacy and friendliness which means so much to parents and children. Practically I fear that many a rural school is full of politics, neighborhood rows, inexperienced task masters, cold lunches, cheerless walls and inexcusable rowdyism and vulgarity among the pupils. I know many excellent rural schools and their teachers. I have seen big hearted teaching there that would put many a city school to shame. But I have seen more mighty poor ones.

Let's leave the good old days and the little Red School house to the poets and the passing generation and strive for more and more schools of the modern type. "My seven-year-old boy started off to school finely. I had taught him writing and arithmetic. I felt sure he would go into the second grade. Well, it took him to school and from the start the teacher was very discourteous. Later I saw her again and she still felt herself to be a distinctly superior person."

I had intended to visit the school a few times each year, but it is not a custom here for parents or school boards to visit schools. Naturally the teacher put my boy with the beginners and he had to sit all day with little to do. Consequently he is rapidly forgetting all that I had taught him.

I have taught my son never to strike or fight except in self-defense. A boy hit him in the face and he hit back. The result was that the teacher kept my boy at home.

Some boys have some freak healing cult or system to exploit. Proper medical or surgical treatment should be given in every case of running ear.

ter school and let the other one go.

"At recess the children deliberately bite and kick each other. One boy has a desire to jam his fingers into other children's eyes. They chase each other with big stones and sticks. I have seen one child hold another down and swing a big stone right over his head. They snatch each other's lunches and kick the dinner pails until they are all battered."

"To cap the climax one of the largest boys ran into the school and in sight of the teacher said to one of the small boys, 'I'll fix you, I'll throw you into the mud puddle.' He picked the small lad up by one leg and one arm and carried him out. The teacher viewed the episode with bland indifference."

"Do you think it will harm my boy to take him out of school? I am worried sick thinking that he may be injured for life through the devilry which goes on in this school."

"The teacher is hired by the chairman of the school board who has been boss of this school district for years and years (not because he is so popular, but because people do not seem to care one way or the other.)

"Nearly all the boys smoke. A big boy once hit the teacher across the mouth with a board eraser and she never said a word. "Don't you think the influence of a public school such as this is bound to hurt a child? It seems to me that we cannot undo, in the three months he is at home, what the school does to him in nine months. Or is this school unusual?"

"MOTHER."

Some country schools are as bad or worse. But there are many better. I advise you to start systematically to work to build up a demand among your neighbors for a school administration of the right sort. You can do it and it will be an achievement worth while. I would not remove the boy from the school unless you have access to a better one. Fight these conditions and correct them. Isn't a country boy or girl entitled to as good a school as a city child? THAT'S the question.

Our Conversation Corner

Too Bad

Is it always true that a mother loves her children? Can she when she calls her youngest a "black-head"? I have been told that the youngest in the family is "babied," but in our family the older ones get all the family sweets. When I received three A's and an A- in my semi-annual examinations all mother said was "Did you?" Never a word of praise!

"FIFTEEN."

Answer—Dear "Fifteen," I extend to you here and now the congratulations you so well deserve for your splendid grades. May your success inspire you to still further efforts. Deep in her heart mother always loves her children. Sometimes under stress of work or worry a tired mother might call a child a name but she would regret it later you may be sure. It seems to be true that the youngest in a family is expected to serve the older ones. Possibly this custom had its origin in the old worn out law that "Might makes right."

"Bill Grimm's Progress" is a picturization by Film Booking Offices of America, Inc., (F. B. O.) of H. C. Witwer's stories of the same name.

SYNOPSIS
Bill Grimm comes to New York to make his fortune and becomes a heavyweight boxer under the tutelage of Butch Ford. Pansy Pilkington has also come to New York and finally gets a position in the Folies. Jack Fairfax hounds Bill, but Bill cuts a wide swath in the fight game. Barbara Baxter, Bill's fiancée, a federal detective, gets a position as stenographer in Philip Hartford's office.

I'd made up my mind to give Barbara my own four-carat diamond, reset in a Tiffany mounting. Figuring this would be my last spending orgy for some time to come, I'd done matters up brown! When I got back that night to the inn where I parked, I managed to get Barbara's aunt on the phone and found that Barbara had been called out of town "on business with her employer." This information put me all out of gear and to me was the deepest that Barbara's wealthy boss had been pinched by government coppers, charged with a big stock swindle! There was no mention of Barbara Baxter, but a rush of brains to the head.

I came out of the clinic and missed two lefts to the face, walking into another hard right which landed too high up to do much harm. Still, it didn't do me no good. The guy could hit! We roughed it up at close quarters, both landing stiff rights to the head. I put a torrid left to the heart, but took three perfect jabs showed me at once why she took that job! Dressing as fast as a fireman, I rushed up to her apartment and found her at breakfast with her aunt.

I'd took a chance on the reception I'd get and was greatly relieved when Barbara acted genuinely glad to see me. I'd hit a homer, my guess—she'd been ordered to go to work for Hartford to get the goods on him.

When I told her I'd bought a tea parlor, she was highly interested and full of questions. After breakfast I took her over to see it. With Barbara in ye shoppes, then knock-out waitress of mine was just so many girls!

"I say," "why not turn in your badge to the government right now and take charge of this place for me?"

"Yes, Bill, I will!" she says softly. "Besides," she adds, with a quick little smile, "an unmarried girl should not associate with criminals. I shall try hard, Bill, to make this delightful shop a success!"

Well, at last the night of the big Christmas benefit vaudeville and boxing show rolled around. Me and Pete Oliver was scheduled to step in the ring at ten o'clock, but I took Barbara down early with me, and seen they were seated ringside.

The scantily clothed Pansy stepped into the ring surrounded by a hot jazz orchestra and tore off her now famous Charleston to applause which split the roof.

Pete Oliver was already in his corner when I climbed through the ropes with Butch Ford, Left Hook O'Brien and Shifty Jones to go fifteen rounds—or less—to a decision.

first round on his aggressiveness. Butch snarling that I didn't land three clean blows.

"You're as yellow as they make 'em!" sneers Jack Fairfax up at me as I sank on my stool. A faithful admirer of mine next to him give him an argument for me.

The second round was the same as the first. Oliver doing all the work and me blocking as best I could, countering only when that was the way to save my noble proposals. Every time we clinched along the ropes near where Fairfax sat, this parsnip let loose a string of filthy abuse which was gradually driving me nutty!

Now confident he had me faded, Oliver threw caution to the winds in the third and waded in with both gloves flying. A storm of sizzling rights and lefts to the body soon raised big red welts, and before the round was half over I felt like he was socking me with a sledge. The house was in a continual uproar, simply going wild when Oliver staggered me with a right to the jaw which made me hang on. He was a good boy, this Oliver, and I'd like to have boxed him again!

But I was out of the clinch and missed two lefts to the face, walking into another hard right which landed too high up to do much harm. Still, it didn't do me no good. The guy could hit! We roughed it up at close quarters, both landing stiff rights to the head. I put a torrid left to the heart, but took three perfect jabs to the mouth in return, the last one splitting my lips. The gang found us exchanging short hooks in mid-ring. Oliver caught me on the chest with a right after the bell, but I didn't think he'd heard it. I grinned and shook his extended pardon-me glove.

As I reached my corner Butch sprang forward and started to throw a shower of water from the sponge.

"You know you're behind, don't you?" he growls in my buzzing ear. Before I could answer Fairfax stands up, shakes his head through the lower ropes and hisses:

"The big white-livered hound is trying to lay down for the gamblers! He's not only yellow, he's crooked!"

Without a word I leaned over swiftly and took a punch at him, knocking off his hat. Like a flash Fairfax brought his heavy cane up and across my face, hitting the bridge of my precious nose and breaking it.

Instantly the house was insane with excitement, nobody sitting down and bedlam in charge. I dropped on my stool, the gore from my busted snapper making my face a red mask, and after one frowning stare the referee wanted to stop the bout and give it to Oliver, as I certainly didn't look able to continue.

While we're arguing in my corner the bell rings for the fourth round, and I shot out like the maniacal killer I was and looked at that minute. With no Greek god's nose to be careful of no longer, I showed the fans that "Bust 'Em-Bill" of old! Oliver stabbed a vicious left to my bleeding back which I didn't even try to block, taking the punch to cross my right fist to his jaw. Arms dangling at his sides, he staggered backwards halfway across the ring, and as I tore in to finish him I slipped. A wild swing glanced off my shoulders, upsetting me, and I got to one knee, resting, thinking and listening to the count: "One-two-three-four-five-six-seven-eight—"

"Nine!" I barked, leaping to my feet and showing the startled referee aside. "Ten!" I yelled and knocked Pete Oliver cold with a right hook to the button.

Then, as the saying is, pandemonium reigned! I stood panting in mid-ring looking down at the shivering-eyed Barbara, while twelve thousand lunatics surged about the ropes cheering a guy named "Bust 'Em-Bill" Grimm, whose arm was being held aloft by the referee.

The heavyweight champ turned on his way out to give me a thoughtful look. Three husky coppers were pulling Butch Ford and Left Hook O'Brien off a battered wreck entitled Jack Fairfax. Shifty Jones, which had called the finish and the round and bet that way at sweat odds, was hurling towels and sponge over his head.

FAST BOUT IS PROMISED FANS AT EL CERRITO

One of the hardest and fastest exhibitions of pugilistic cleverness ever put on by the El Cerrito club, is scheduled to be on tap next Friday night.

Pete Meyers, the knockout king, and Eddie Dampier, the battling San Jose school boy will be seen in the main event, with every chance of plenty of thrills for the fans. Promoter Joe Rossi announces that the go will be the most sensational since the Nelson-Volgaist drag out a long time ago.

Dampier is given a margin on cleverness but this is counterbalanced by Meyers' well known wallops. Weights and height are almost the same.

Heavy Snows Assure Water For Mokelumne Storage Basin

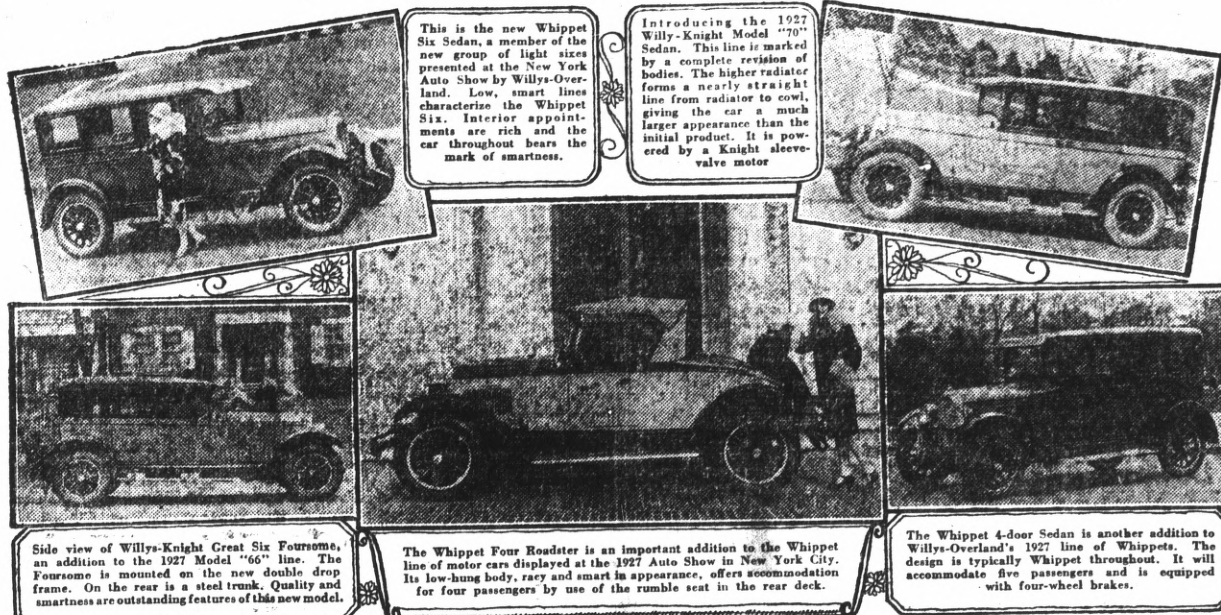

Nearly nine feet of snow is packed in the upper parts of the Mokelumne storage basin every prospect indicating that there will be much more before the winter ends, Arthur P. Davis, chief engineer and general manager of the East Bay Municipal Utility District reported yesterday. A plentiful water supply for the project is thus assured.

The district will be unable to utilize the Lancha Plana dam site, Davis stated, but water may be pumped from the San Joaquin River in April and May in order to increase the supply available.

In the past the flow of the river has gone up to nearly 3000 second feet for a short time, due to heavy precipitation. It is estimated by Davis that during the months of April, May and June, from 4000 to 5000 second feet a day will flow in the Mokelumne River. The Lancha Plana reservoir would fill in 28 days with a flow of 4000 second feet.

This is the new Whippet Six Sedan, a member of the new group of light sizes presented at the New York Auto Show by Willys-Overland. Low, smart lines characterize the Whippet Six. Interior appointments are rich and the car throughout bears the mark of smartness.

Introducing the 1927 Willys-Knight Model sedan. This line is marked by a complete revision of bodies. The higher radiator forms a nearly straight line from radiator to cowl, giving the car a much larger appearance than the initial product. It is powered by a Knight sleeve-valve motor.

The Whippet Four Roadster is an important addition to the Whippet line of motor cars displayed at the 1927 Auto Show in New York City. Its low-hung body, easy and smart in appearance, offers accommodation for four passengers by use of the rumble seat in the rear deck.

Willys-Overland dealers throughout the nation are centering their efforts on the advance spring showing of Willys-Knight sixes and four and six cylinder Whippets to be held simultaneously in all parts of the country during the week of February 21, according to J. P. Strom, Richmond dealer. This exhibit is an unusual event in the automobile field and one that is attracting wide interest.

The advanced showing follows the record sales that have been registered in all sections of the country. The influx orders for Willys-Knight and Whippets forcing an increase in the car building schedules at the Toledo factory to meet the demands of dealers and motor car buyers.

This special showing gives motorists a further opportunity of viewing the 1927 products of Willys-Overland, declared to be the finest ever produced by that company, and one that is meeting a popular response on the part of the buyers throughout the country recording a new achievement in Willys-Overland history.

Motor car buyers are disclosing a keen interest in the advance spring showing and thousands will take advantage of this opportunity of viewing and inspecting the 1927 products of the Toledo manufacturer.

The exhibit will include the "70" Willys-Knight sixes, the Willys-Knight Great Six group of quality cars, the complete line of Whippet Sixes and the four cylinder Whippets which made their first appearance last summer.

Information Board On New Chandler Is Late Feature

Habits are hard to change—so are ideas. And when people have been educated to call a thing by a certain name, it's difficult to get them to term it something else.

Yet there is really no reason why the instrument panel on Chandler's new Royal Eight should not be called an information board, claims Frank E. Connor, Eastern Sales Manager of the Chandler-Cleveland Motors Corporation, for it is an information board in fact as well as in name.

"A Royal Eight owner can get all the information he needs to know about the operating condition of his car at a glance," said Connor. "The speedometer, oil gauge and ammeter, found on practically every car, will tell him his rate of speed, oil pressure and battery charging rate. "But this information alone is not sufficient," he continued. "Chandler engineers, therefore, have incorporated an electric clock which never needs winding and a thermometer to show the temperature of the cooling system, a gas gauge in addition to the usual instruments on the new Royal Eight information board. "And, so that the owner may never need to hunt for matches to light a cigar or cigarette—they have also incorporated an ingenious cigar lighter which may be turned into a spot light in a moment by attaching a device carried beneath the panel proper.

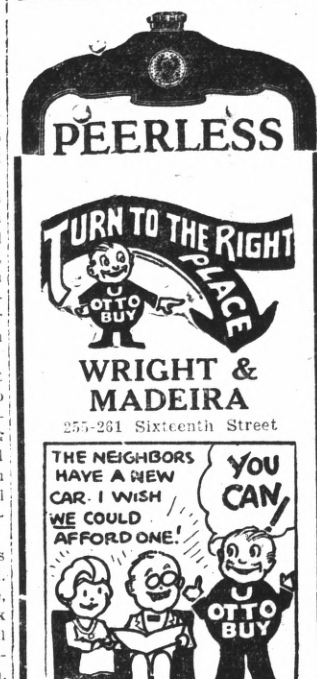

"When a Royal Eight owner can find out, at a glance, what time it is, how fast he is going, the temperature of the cooling system, his car's oil pressure and battery charging rate, how much gas he has—gets about all the information he would need. That's why I think our panel should be called an Information Board instead of an instrument panel."

"PA POTTER" IS IN THE MOVIES AT CALIFORNIA

Good Vaudeville Is Slated For California Bill

Poor old Pa Potter, door-mat of the entire Potter tribe, is in the movies and more people are laughing at him now than ever giggled at his misadventures in print.

"The Potters," arriving at the California Theatre today, with W. C. Fields starred as Pa, concerns itself with the episode in which Pa becomes interested in an oil deal. If you've never read J. P. McEvoy's comic strip or seen his play, it might be wise to say that "The Potters" are a family of average, human, everyday Americans. Pa is honest, blundering and ambitious. Ma loves her husband but continually argues with him. Mamie is eighteen and a flapper. Bill has reached an age where he can sport a cute little mustache.

The film opens as Pa decides to plunge into a sure-fire oil deal. He takes all the mortgage money and exchanges it for a couple of gilt edge bonds. Mamie gets wind of it but to curb her tongue, Pa gives her one as a birthday gift. Then, Ma becomes suspicious, Pa sells his stock, pockets a small profit and—oil actually starts flowing. What happens?

Nothing but laugh provoking scenes follow on each other's heels. Ivy Harris and Mary Alden are featured in Fields' support. Fred Newmeyer directed for Paramount.

Comedies and "Kinograms" world news events with five acts of headliner vaudeville complete the program.

A show that is a positive wow is coming to the California Theatre today, with the Radio Skylarks holding the headline position, with Adolpho and the Venetian Trio running neck and neck for second place honors of the big five act vaudeville bill. In conjunction with the screen feature "The Potters," starring W. C. Fields.

"Mirthful Moments" is the title of Jack Millers clever quintette, "The Radio Skylarks" and these neatly costumed boys have a knowledge of playing new numbers, with special song interpolations, that is artistic as well as pleasing. Their program is the sort that keeps their audience humming along with the different airs. A bright and sparkling offering that is always popular.

The Evergreen Adolpho with his versatile presentation of music, whistling, song and story brings an entirely new repertoire that he puts over in his own inimitable way. When one mentions the piano accordion Adolpho is a true master.

"The Venetian Trio with comedy and song intersperse the Italian and American numbers in a way that is acceptable at all times.

"Bits of This and That" with Bloom and Duell, as the principals is a pot pourri of comedy and chatter that is sure-fire for laughs.

Stella Burgess a singing comedienne with a pleasing personality sends the show off to a merry start.

BEAUTIFUL LOVE STORY NOW ON RICHMOND BILL

"Kentucky Pride" holds the boards at the Richmond Theater today.

This is an out-of-the-ordinary picture, which is surely destined to attract a great many people who do not make a habit of going to cinema emporiums. It is a graphic and thoroughly engrossing unfolding of the romantic story of a great racehorse, the plot being interwoven with the facts of human beings in a quite novel way.

Although the cast contains the names of such screen celebrities as Henry B. Walthall, J. Farrell MacDonald and Gertrude Astor, all of whom give fine performances, it is reasonably certain that at least two of the five very famous horses in this same cast will be given the palm in the bestowal of encomiums. None other than Man o' War and Morvich are these two kings of the turf with such strong charms for "stealing the picture" in this, their debut on the screen. Many will want to see this feature just because they are in it so prominently.

Also of more than secondary importance is, the fact that John Ford, the director, has succeeded in photographing two of the most thrilling realistic horse-races for this picture. Anyone having the least drop of sporting blood in his or her veins will certainly relish these dashes of speed.

In short, "Kentucky Pride" is a photodramatic treat for all those seeking something distinctly different in their cinematic fare.

Other film features include "Papa's Pest," a Neal Burns comedy; and "Kinograms" world news events.

Does Collegiate High Hat Dad? Is Term Of Debate

(By Universal Service)

BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 19.—Are college students ashamed of their parents? This is the question one constantly hears discussed on an increasing number of college campuses today. Students everywhere are presenting new evidences to support their theories either for or against the accusation while parents are sitting quietly on the sidelines—amusedly wondering.

Curiously enough, the idea that college students are guilty of hating their home-folks had its beginning in a vaudeville act. A performer professing to be sad because of his inability to send his son to college is consoled by his partner with the following quip:

"Never mind old fellow—if he went through college, he would only be ashamed of you when he graduated."

In The West

It was this remark, dropped flippantly by some artist of the two-day and heard by a thin-skinned undergraduate that is supposed to have started the trouble. It is said that while most of the audience chuckled, there were certain of its number who tried to climb under their seats; who later made their way home trying mightily to look like two other people.

Students of a western university, when confronted with the problem, were quick to reply. Many laughed outright at such a "preposterous" idea; others admitted it to be partly true and hastened to lay the blame on their parents, while still a very few shouldered blame and all.

When hot-blooded and questioned, one hot-blooded lad said:

"The trouble with parents is their tendency to sniff at our every suggestion and idea. They fail to keep pace with what is new, and brand what we have learned as mere rubbish."

"This results in a widening of the gulf between parent and offspring until life at home becomes unbearable—for both. It is then that the student leaves home for a less stormy port."

Another boy, just as earnestly as the first one, had an entirely different slant on the question. He said:

Blames The Student

"The student is to blame. When the country's youth goes to college, it is in much the same predicament as the farmer's boy who has 'been to town.' In the bustle and excitement of undergraduate days, the student quickly forgets the tame life of the home town. He does any number of new and interesting things, increases his velocity of living, and returns home to tag his folks with such adjectives as 'dull,' 'stodgy,' 'milk-fed.'"

"The truth is, they are the same respectable, intelligent parents whom he left before taking his grand adventure—a college education. He has merely elevated himself, in his own mind, to the

Christian Science Sanatorium Will Be Built In S. F.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 18.—A Christian Science sanatorium under the auspices of "The Christian Science Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, is to be built and maintained at or near San Francisco. An announcement to this effect by the Christian Science board of directors is in the current issue of the Christian Science Sentinel.

The new institution is to be financed by the Christian Scientists of the Pacific Coast states. It will be the second sanatorium to be established under the auspices of the Christian Science Mother Church, the first one having been opened at Chestnut Hill, Mass., a suburb of Boston, in 1919.

Levi P. Rosier Weds Avon Girl

Miss Elizabeth Lynch, daughter of Mrs. Mary Lynch of Avon, and Levi P. Rosier of Richmond, were married at St. Patrick's church at Hodge yesterday afternoon.

After a honeymoon in the southern part of the state the young couple will make their home at Richmond where Rosier is employed with the Standard Oil company.

position of a sort of half-god."

Thus, wherever the question has been raised, are students ready to go to bat with their ideas on the subject.

Meanwhile professors are seated in the gallery, with not a word to say. A few are deeply interested; others hide smiles behind their hands. Perhaps in their undergraduate days they were confronted with this very same ride. Just now, however, they are enjoying a good hot fight.

Mr. Haskell Completely Relieved

Mr. H. Haskell was very much discouraged after two months of the Fong Wan treatment and wished to quit.

He was urged to continue the herbs and was completely relieved after three months of the Fong Wan Herb. His testimonial follows:

Oakland, Calif.,
I suffered for many years from sores of the stomach and from bladder trouble. After years of treatment without results, I became very much discouraged and feared that I should never again be well. One day I saw in the newspaper a testimonial that Mr. P. Oliver had given to the FONG WAN HERB CO. As his case had been similar to mine, I called upon Mr. Oliver and learned from him that everything stated in that testimonial was true. I then began to faithfully take the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT and after three months I was a well man. At the time of this writing my blood test is negative and my bladder is in splendid condition. 3112 Linden St.

Federal Building Appropriation To Benefit Oakland

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—President Coolidge today submitted to congress a recommendation that $19,875,000 be appropriated for immediate expenditure in Federal Building construction throughout the country.

This is to be the initial outlay by congress on the $165,000,000 public building program adopted at its last session. The funds asked for today would be used to start projects of continuing construction already under way.

Expenditure of an additional $100,000,000 is authorized in a bill which has passed the house but which is pending in the Senate. Among the projects specified by the president for immediate funds were:

Oakland, Calif., postoffice $710,000 and $2,000,000 increase in cost limit.
San Francisco, Calif., Marine Hospital, $150,000, with cost of building increased $1,840,000.

Stockton—Ground broken for construction of pencil factory of Gulf Red Cedar Company here.

Injured men were removed before the second crash occurred. Klein was placed under arrest and yesterday morning appeared before Justice of the Peace A. H. MacKinnon in El Cerrito and was fined $10. He said he was not paying proper attention to his driving.

The impact of the Gillard and Winebrenner machines was terrific. Both cars were completely destroyed by the force of the crash. Although the Gillard machine was not overturned the crash threw several of the occupants through the glass windows. Hofas received the greatest injury due to his position directly in line with the impact. Winebrenner was thrown through the windshield of his car as the front end caved in.

The five occupants of the Gillard machine were rushed to the Abbott Emergency hospital for first aid treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Gillard were returned to their home while Hill and Mrs. Randall were taken to the Berkeley General hospital and Hofas to the Cottage hospital in the Wilson and Kratzer and Curry ambulances.

Winebrenner was removed to the offices of Dr. Breneman on San Pablo avenue. Klein was not injured.

Dr. U. S. Abbott assisted by Dr. L. A. Hedges, performed an operation at the cottage hospital yesterday morning for the removal of a piece of bone from Hofas' head. Dr. Abbott is also attending Mrs. Randall and Hill. Mr. and Mrs. Gillard and Winebrenner are on the road to recovery.

Klein told the authorities that he was returning from a visit to Oakland and that he was driving at a normal rate of speed when the wreckage loomed before him. The sudden application of the brakes, he said, caused a tire to blow out and he lost control of the car. He said he saw the wreck too late to avoid the crash.

ed until Monday when the attorneys will begin their closing addresses.

Testimony Of Senator Taken In Graft Case

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—United States Senator Guy D. Goff, of West Virginia, took the witness stand today in the Daugherty-Miller trial in the federal court and assumed responsibility for giving the approval of the department of justice to Richard Merton's $7,000,000 alien property claim in 1921, when he, Goff, was assistant attorney general.

It is in connection with the approval of the claim that the charge of conspiring to defraud the government of their unrepaid services is made against Former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and Colonel Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian. Both are charged with sharing in a $441,000 "fee" paid by Merton to the late John T. King, Republican national committee man.

Senator Goff denied that there was even a hint of irregularity in the Merton claim.

Senator Goff was the last witness in the trial, and following his testimony court was adjourned.

Delaware, and naming three Delaware men as incorporators, were filed in Martinez yesterday. This corporation, however, is only a preliminary organization, formed for the purpose of getting the actual plans for the bridge under way. A new company which will operate upon dissolution of the Delaware corporation, is now in the process of formation and will be incorporated under the laws of the state of California. This company will be headed by Roy O. Long of Berkeley.

The cost of the big span has been estimated roughly at $12,000,000. It will be the longest, or one of the longest of its kind in the world, stretching 14,600 feet from San Pablo county side, Point on the Marin county side. The main piers for the spans will be located on Brother's Islands, and the height of the spans over the water will be determined by the U. S. War Department. A long fill will be built to the Marin County approach, the water being much shallower on that side of the bay.

Little Difficulty Anticipated

Due to the shallowness of the water over which the bridge will be constructed, the builders will be confronted with no greater difficulties than were encountered with the much shorter Carquinez bridge, at which point the Straits are comparatively deep, according to Charles Derleth, Jr., consulting engineer on the project, who also designed the span across the straits at Carquinez.

Before the application is heard on April 4, all preliminary engineering details, such as soundings, surveys, etc., will be attended to by project engineers.
